Social and Personal

MISSSES Fanny Scott, Jane Boulware, Emma Gray White, Gay Montague, Mary Chalmers Della Davenport and Mary Crump will go to the University of Virginia June to attend the finals at that college. They will be members of a very attractive house party given by the members of the Delta Tau Delta Fraternity at their home at the university, and will attend the dances and social functions to be given there next month. The Delta Tau Delta for the past several years has entertained a house party of girls and alumnae at finals, and it is always a gala event. Most of their guests are some of the most attractive girls that have made their way to society this winter, and the several days spent at the university will be very charming ones indeed.

Miss Gay Montague will leave shortly for Annapolis, Md., where she will attend the graduation hops at the Naval Academy, going later to the University of Virginia. Miss Katherine Hagan is also attending the graduation hops at Annapolis.

Mrs. David Dunlop entertained at dinner last week at the Homestead Hotel, Virginia Hot Springs, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Lee. Mrs. Dunlop's other guests were Colonel Jacob Peters, Robert Waller, Maurice L. Johnston and E. T. Hickey. Outing to Old Point.

Another interesting function that will engage society for this week will be a party to Old Point Comfort on

NO SLAVERY TO WORK

Finds It Easy To Do Her House-Work, After Taking Cardui, The Woman's Tonic, For Her Weakness.

Deskins, Va.—"I had serious female troubles, lasting forty days at a time," writes Mrs. Mary A. Vandyke. "I took medicine from two doctors, but it seemed to do no good. I was so weak I could hardly walk, so I wrote you for advice, and got a bottle of Cardui. In a few days I was better. Now I feel like a new woman. I am doing my work, and praise your medicine every day. I advise all my friends to try Cardui, the best medicine for women on earth."

If you suffer from any form of womanly weakness or irregularity, try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It helps nature to perform a cure in a natural, easy way.

Its ingredients are mild herbs having a gentle, tonic effect on the female constitution.

It makes for increased strength, improves the appetite, tones up the nervous system, and helps to make pale, sallow cheeks fresh and rosy.

Many ladies have written to say that Cardui is worth its weight in gold. If you are a woman, try it.

Your druggist sells it, with full instructions for use.

BISHOP DENNY TO LIVE IN RICHMOND

Finally Decides to Make This His Home, and Will Come Here in the Fall.

MEANS MUCH TO CHURCH

Methodist Bishop Will Assist in Great Work in This Section.

Bishop Collins Denny, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, now of Nashville, Tenn., will shortly move to Richmond to make this his permanent home. This announcement was made yesterday by Rev. Samuel C. Hatcher, D. D., pastor of the Broad Street Methodist Church, an intimate friend of Bishop Denny.

Dr. Denny was elected a bishop of the Methodist Church in 1910, after having served for twenty years as professor of philosophy at Vanderbilt University. He was chosen by one of the largest majorities ever given any bishop of the church.

Bishop Denny is extremely popular throughout the South, and is widely known among the clergy and laity. He determined to make his residence in Richmond on account of its location, with a view of accessibility to all parts of the South. In carrying out his episcopal duties it is necessary for him to do much traveling.

Native of Winchester.
He is a native of Winchester, Va., having been born there in 1854. His parents were William R. and Margaret Collins Denny.

After completing his preparatory studies, he entered Princeton University, where he took the degree of B. A. in 1874, and the following year the degree of M. A. He then went to the study of law at the University of Virginia, and graduated with the degree of B. L. Going to Baltimore, Md., he began the practice of law, but in 1880 entered the Baltimore Conference. He was assigned as a pastor to the Eastern Shore of Maryland. He held other charges as follows: One year at Fairfax Courthouse, two years at Fincastle, Botetourt county, Va.; nearly three years in Lewiston, W. Va.; two years as chaplain of the University of Virginia, and for six months was pastor of the Green Memorial Church, Roanoke.

Came Here in Fall.
In 1886, Bishop Denny made a trip to China and Japan with Bishop Wilson. For twelve years he was a member of the book committee of the church, and for two-thirds of that time was its chairman. He married Lucy Chapman, of Baltimore, in 1881. Bishop Denny will assist Bishop Wilson next November in conducting the Virginia Conference, which meets at Salisbury, Md.

Bishop Denny has not yet selected a residence in Richmond, but this will probably be done by his sister, who is the wife of Rev. J. W. Dixon, superintendent of the Methodist Institute here.

Mrs. Dixon said yesterday that Bishop Denny will probably come to Richmond in September or October.

FRIENDS UNABLE TO FIND MOTIVE

Finally Accept Theory That Young Parrish Killed Himself in Bristol.

Although not the slightest cause can be assigned for his act, friends and employers of E. M. Parrish, Jr., who killed himself in the Hamilton Hotel, Bristol, Sunday morning, have given up the idea that he was the victim of foul play, and will make no police investigation of the case to disprove the belief that it was plain suicide. The Bristol Council, United Commercial Travelers, of which Mr. Parrish was a member, will, however, get together the fragments of papers torn up by him before he fired the fatal shot, in order to discover, if possible some cause. It is known that he did not habitually carry a pistol, and the dealer who sold the one with which he ended his life will be interviewed.

Further investigation into Mr. Parrish's affairs makes the suicide more and more a mystery. A member of the E. B. Taylor Company said yesterday that his affairs were in perfect shape. Saturday afternoon the firm received his expenses account covering expenditures from Knoxville to Bristol. It was found, also, that he owed no debts and that there was quite a sum of money in bank to his credit. Just a few days ago one of his friends received a letter from him which was most optimistic in its tone. He said that he would be in the city this week.

Accompanied by a delegation of United Commercial Travelers from Bristol, the body reached Charlottesville on Sunday night. There it was met by friends from this city. The funeral will take place from his home, Kent's Store, Louisa county, this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

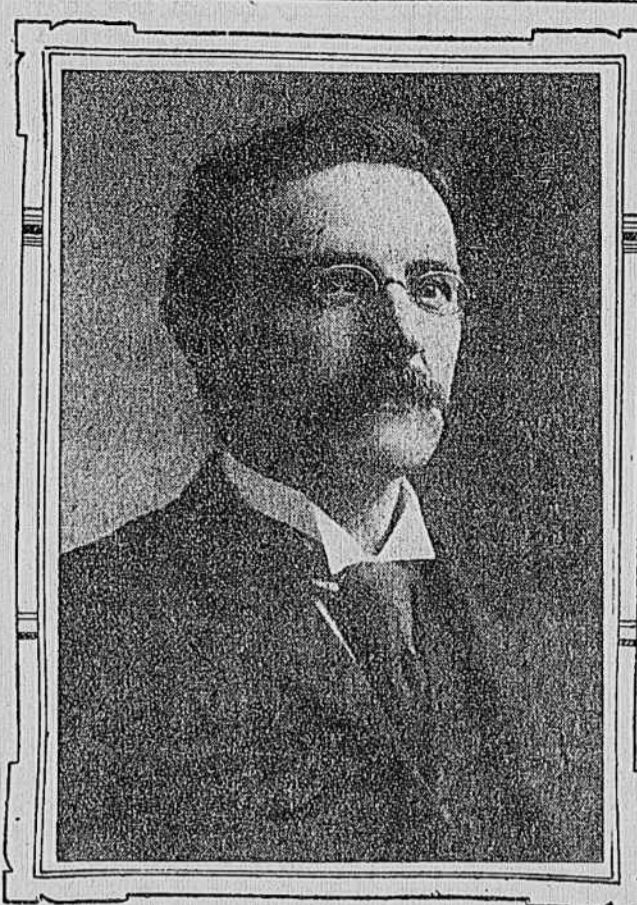

NURSE INJURED WHEN STERILIZER EXPLODES

Superintendent of South Boston Hospital Receives Painful Burn.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
South Boston, May 28.—Miss Doris Wimmer, superintendent of the Halcyon Hospital, on Jefferson Street, was very seriously burned this afternoon by the explosion of a sterilizer in the operating room. Upon striking a match, in the act of lighting the sterilizer, preparatory to the necessary operation, an explosion occurred, being caused by too much gasoline. Her clothing caught fire and she was badly burned before assistance could reach her. She was quickly taken to Dr. H. S. Bell's home, next door, where she was made as comfortable as possible, and the necessary medical aid rendered. She is doing as well as could be expected at a late hour to-night.

Dr. Bell had his hands badly burned, and Miss Frances McNutt, one of the nurses, was slightly burned also while trying to rescue Miss Wimmer. The fire was slight, and but little damage was done to the hospital.

13-YEAR-OLD BOY KILLS COMPANION

Plans Murder Deliberately, and Expresses No Regret Over His Death.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Danville, Va., May 29.—A distressing tragedy occurred here to-day, when Frank Mahan, aged fourteen years, was shot and instantly killed by a fellow-playmate, Samuel Pruett, aged thirteen years, on Main Street, at the south entrance to the Main Street bridge. The youth of both parties to the shocking tragedy adds to the horror of it all.

When confronted by a newspaper man, Pruett, who worked in the cotton mill with Mahan, expressed no regret at the action, and stated he had planned to kill him. The tragedy occurred when the streets were filled with mill operatives going to work. Just as a car from Schoolfield stopped at the corner of Main and Canal Streets, at the south end of the free bridge, young Mahan alighted from it, and a moment later Pruett, without warning to the victim, and without apprising any one of his intention, opened fire upon Mahan at close range, using a .35-calibre Smith & Wesson revolver. Before any of the spectators realized what was occurring, four shots rang out in quick succession, and Mahan, with an exclamation of horror and alarm, fell to the pavement dead after walking or running a few steps.

In an interview, Pruett stated Mahan had been annoying and nagging at him for some time past, and had been telling tales to the foreman in the mill on him. He said Mahan was always gulling his hair, or striking him on the head, or even threatened to run over his toes with a truck. Pruett stated he made up his mind Saturday to kill Mahan, and that he took his father's pistol from the house after eating breakfast this morning, and started out with the intention of killing Mahan, which he did just as he aighted from a car. Young Mahan was buried this afternoon.

ROBBERIES AT SOUTH BOSTON.
Department Store and N. & W. Station Broken Into.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
South Boston, Va., May 29.—The department store of Samuel F. Gilliland, at this place, was broken into Saturday night by thieves, and several hundred dollars' worth of silks, men's and women's ready-made suits, haberdashery, dress suit cases and other goods carried off. The entrance was made by breaking the glass directly over the rear door of the building.

This store suffered a similar robbery on Sunday night, March 19. All of the surrounding cities have been notified, and every effort will be made to run down the robbers. At present there is no clue.

The Norfolk and Western depot at this place was also broken into Sunday night and a number of trunks ransacked. It is not thought that anything else was disturbed.

TWO MEN IN WELL OVERCOME BY GAS

One Killed by Fall From Bucket, and Other Loses Life Trying to Save Companion.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Gladesboro, Va., May 29.—John Thomas and Peter Finney, two well-known men of Gladesboro, lost their lives recently, by being overcome by gas at the bottom of a well. Thomas was engaged in digging a well, and when at a depth of about fifty feet, he felt himself being overcome, and signaled to the men at the top to draw him up. They responded immediately, but when the bucket was within about fifteen feet of the top, Mr. Thomas fell back into the well. It was later found that the fall must have caused instant death. His skull was crushed in many places, his arm broken, and his shoulder dislocated.

When volunteers were called for to go down into the well and bring Mr. Thomas up, the only response came from Peter Finney. He was lowered, and succeeded in placing the ropes around Thomas's body, when he, too, was overcome, and he soon lay dead at the bottom of the shaft. The shock of his death may prove fatal to his sister, who now lies in a critical condition.

MEDICAL COLLEGE FINALS TO-NIGHT

Richard Evelyn Byrd Will Deliver Address at City Auditorium.

In anticipation of one of the largest audiences which has ever been present at the finals, the City Auditorium has been engaged for the seventy-third annual commencement of the Medical College of Virginia, which will take place to-night at 8:30 o'clock. Richard E. Byrd, Speaker of the Virginia House of Delegates, will be the orator of the occasion.

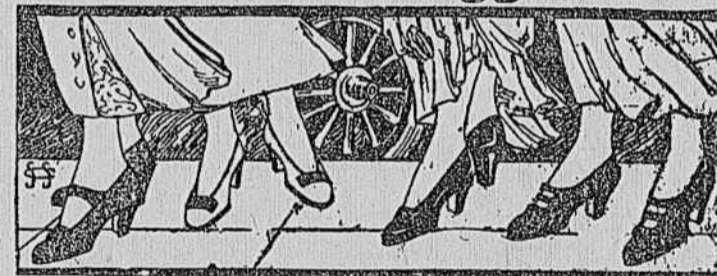

A class reunion supper will follow the awarding of diplomas. Last night the graduates enjoyed the annual adjunct faculty smoker, which took place in the pathological laboratory of the college, while yesterday afternoon they were the guests of the board of directors of the Memorial Hospital at a luncheon.

Most of yesterday's work was devoted to surgical and medical clinics.

The Alumni Society will hold a business session this morning at 10 o'clock. At 11:30 o'clock an address will be made by Dr. Walter D. McCaw at a scientific session of the society.

A luncheon at the college will be served at 3 o'clock this afternoon.
